At TSIC Broward, we have established a robust infrastructure that enables us to collect real-time data on our students' academic performance and mentoring engagement. This system not only identifies early warning signs for proactive advising but also our leadership and Board in making informed strategic decisions. Recognized as an educational innovator, we were honored to receive a U.S. Department of Education Investing in Innovation (I3) grant in 2010, highlighting our commitment to promising educational models with national potential.
